

ANDERSON PENS HIS
DISSERT TO HIDING
Doesn't Wish Certain Unnamed Columbus Knight to Get Dry Job.

IS FRIEND OF SHEVLIN
Also Is Municipal Court
Justice and Lives in Queens County.

LARKIN RESENTS ACTION
Disclaims Knowing Identity of Proposed Enforcement
Agent for State.

William H. Anderson carried directly to President Harding last night the fight of the State Anti-Saloon League to prevent the naming as supervising prohibition enforcement agent in this State of a "man who is a bosom friend and fellow member of the same local Knights of Columbus organization as a former agent, under whose administration Federal enforcement was a scandal in New York city and State."

Mr. Anderson and others connected with the Anti-Saloon League refused to name the man against whom their drive is concentrated, but when pressed to identify the "man holding a judicial position in New York city" who, the league maintains, is close to getting the job, Mr. Anderson said:

"The position sought is the one once occupied by James S. Shevlin, whose former home was in Hollis, which is in Queens county. The man to succeed in this job has been promised to Queens county and a possible candidate is a Municipal Court Justice who still has some years to serve."

Although he refused to name this Justice, Mr. Anderson said he felt sure the name eventually would become public, but nowhere in political circles last night could even the slightest intimation regarding the identity of the candidate be obtained. Mr. Anderson contented himself with giving out copies of a letter that had been forwarded on the subject to President Harding. This letter said:

"We request, since the enforcement of Federal prohibition in New York city has been a notorious scandal and is now far below State enforcement in efficiency, even in the city of New York, that special care be exercised in the appointment of the supervising prohibition agent in charge of that work in New York State."

"We desire to call your attention to the fact that the most notable record for efficiency, aggressiveness and conscientiousness in the enforcement of the national prohibition law in the entire State is being made by LeRoy W. Ross, Federal District Attorney in Brooklyn. The public interests will be best served by appointing Mr. Ross to serve on his full term if he is willing to do so. His intelligent, fearless stand in this center of nullification propaganda is raising the standard of Federal enforcement throughout the nation and he is a national asset."

William P. Larkin, Supreme Director of the Knights of Columbus, in a statement issued last night denounced the resolution of the board of trustees of the Anti-Saloon League which said there was a movement on foot to name as supervising enforcement agent a member of his organization.

"The attempt to drag in the name of the Knights of Columbus appears to be characteristic of the methods of certain self-appointed reformers," Mr. Larkin said. "Mr. Anderson and some of his associates gaining the easy bread of paid reformers do not hesitate to project religion into any argument that is not otherwise interesting."

"If the Government sees fit to select as its officers citizens who are members of the Knights of Columbus that is the Government's affair. All good citizens coming to help for the rigid enforcement of prohibition if only to rid New York of the noisy Anti-Saloon League."

A despatch from Washington says that Treasury officials state no rift exists in the action has been made for the appointment of an agent to succeed Mr. Langley, whose work thus far has been satisfactory to the Washington authorities.

Mr. Larkin said that the Anti-Saloon League, which has been Federal Prohibition Director since March 1, 1920. The new director is a graduate of Cornell University and Cornell Law School, where he played football on the varsity team for two years.

Mr. O'Connor will take a much needed rest and then will reenter private law practice at his home in Hobart, where he is active in the Democratic party.

The office to which Mr. Hart succeeds has nothing to do with gathering evidence and making arrests of Volstead act violators, but has full power over the issuance of permits for the manufacture and sale of liquor for none other than medicinal purposes.

WOMEN TO TAKE PART IN ANTI-DRY PARADE

Special Brigade Formed to Join Big Demonstration.

As thousands of women have applied to take part in the special parade of women on July 4, the parade committee was formed yesterday, with Miss Belle Norton as its leader. Application for this division should be made to Miss Norton at her business address, 11 Chambers street.

Frank C. Drake, who started the movement for the demonstration, said last night that from indications 200,000 persons will take part in the parade and that a large proportion of the volunteers do not drink intoxicating liquor.

Eben Bearse wrote from Springfield, Mass., that he and 5,000 men from that city, Hartford and other Connecticut communities will come to New York and foot it up Fifth avenue on Independence Day. The Fraternity of this city will also turn out.

Newark, Jersey City, Paterson and Elizabeth are considering parades of protest against the Volstead and Van Ness prohibition acts on July 4, according to a statement issued yesterday from the office of John Haley of the Anti-Dry League of New Jersey.

NAVY CLUB CHANGES NAME.

It was announced yesterday that the name of the Manhattan Navy Club, Inc., of 12 East Forty-first street, has been changed to the National Navy Club of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt, president, and Douglas B. Elliman, secretary, signed the new papers of incorporation.

HUSBAND, ANNOYING WIFE IS SENTENCED TO KITCHEN

Former Railroad Detective, Now Jobless, Ordered to Home Duties Under Watchful Eye of Queens-borough Probation Officer.

Magistrate John Kochendorfer of Queens, who announced last week that in the future he would sentence irresponsible husbands to the kitchen instead of the workhouse, put precept into practice yesterday in the case of George Watson, who used to be a detective on the Long Island Railroad, but isn't any more.

Watson's wife was the complainant in the case and appeared in court with her four children.

"My husband has been staying out late nights," she said. "He is not working and has been making trouble around the house. And he doesn't bring home any money."

"I am out of a job," insisted Watson. "When I earn some money I will give her some."

"I am afraid you're not looking for work hard enough," said the court. "Anyway, I and 2 o'clock in the morning are the wrong hours to look."

He sentenced Watson to work mornings in his wife's kitchen and hunt work in the afternoon, or vice versa. "And my probation officer will see that you follow orders," the magistrate concluded. "If you disobey them you go to the workhouse. Somehow, I think you'll find a job soon."

SURFACE CAR HITS
TRUCK; MANY HURT

Gasoline Tank Explodes and Flames Leap Through Elevated Structure.

An automobile truck, named against an elevated pillar at Third avenue and Thirtieth street yesterday afternoon, produced a panic aboard a crowded Third avenue surface car and tied up elevated traffic for about half an hour. Two women were injured in the rush for the exits. The rear end of the truck was hit by the surface car, and as the hood struck the pillar the gasoline tank exploded and flames shot out.

The flames shot upward through the elevated structure just as a southbound train was drawing into the Fourteenth street station. The very badly charred and the wooden bridge work at the side of the structure was burned. The electric cables, however, escaped.

The truck, which was a big covered affair, was destroyed. The driver, Abraham Packer, of 210 Seventh street, fell off without being injured when the crash came, but two youths riding with him, Jacob Greenberg, 19, 32 Jefferson street, and Harry Fischer, 22, 1410 Madison avenue, were cut and bruised.

Herman Audinsky, 62 Bartlett street, Brooklyn, passenger on the surface car, was the only one taken to the hospital. His nose was broken and he had some body bruises.

Others injured in the rush to leave the surface car were Benjamin Bernstein, 172 Monroe street, cuts on the head; Rachael Orzicki, 60, 330 East 129th street, left knee dislocated; Jennie Orzicki, 108 Christie street, left knee dislocated; and Thomas J. Walsh, 38 East 125th street, cuts of the body. Truck 3 saved the surface car from burning.

NEW P. S. C. DECLINES TO RESCIND PHONE BOOST

Agrees, However, to Consider City's Petition.

The Public Service Commission at yesterday's hearing announced the evidence submitted by the city was not considered sufficient to warrant the commission in rescinding the order of the former commission in granting the New York Telephone Company a temporary 30 per cent. rate increase. The commission added, however, it would not deny the city's petition at this time, but "will take into consideration the evidence submitted so far in connection with such further facts as the commission's own investigation will provide."

It is expected that figures to be submitted by the company showing the effect of the increase will be a potent influence in determining the commission's final position on the temporary modification. The hearing will be continued next week.

U. S. FIGHTS DISCHARGE OF ROSENBLUTH'S BAIL

Accused Slayer of Cronkhite Sought Action.

Jonah L. Goldstein, counsel for Robert Rosenbluth, former army captain, who was held on March 28 in $25,000 bail on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Major Alexander P. Cronkhite, was informed yesterday that Attorney-General Daugherty will instruct Francis G. Caffey, United States Attorney for this district, to resist the motion for the discharge of bail given by the former officer. Argument on the motion will be held in the United States District Court on June 8.

Mr. Goldstein said he believed that when the Attorney-General received a full report on the case a different decision would be reached.

REFUSES TO REPAY
FUNDS; GETS 3 YEARS

James McCreery Had Promised Restitution.

James McCreery, a lawyer of 84 Fourth avenue, Brooklyn, was sentenced by Judge Nott in General Sessions yesterday to serve from six months to three years in the penitentiary, because he refused to make restitution of funds he promised. McCreery, who is 72, was convicted two months ago of grand larceny. It was alleged he failed to turn over to the State the money he received from the death of Mr. Kruger, a widow of 88, Third avenue, Brooklyn, the amount of a policy he had collected for her from a life insurance company upon the death of Mr. Kruger. McCreery and Kruger were fellow lodge members.

At the time of his conviction McCreery said he would pay the complainant what was due her. Yesterday Judge Nott told the court he had "decided to fight it out."

GETS $10,000 A YEAR
TO MAINTAIN CHILD

James E. Willing to Use Income
From Trust Funds.

In order to maintain his 14-year-old daughter, Louise Lee Willing, in the style in which his mother-in-law used to keep her, James Edgar Willing of 316 West Ninety-third street, accountant, obtained an allowance yesterday from Surrogate Cobalan of $10,000 a year, or the entire income of three trust funds bequeathed the girl, one by her mother and two by the grandmother, Mrs. Grace L. Smith, who died recently after having taken care of the girl since her mother's death.

Two of the funds each bring an income of $5,000 a year. The third fund comprises the grandmother's summer estate at Sound Beach, Conn.

Mr. Willing's Situation Wanted Ad. In Sunday's Herald and have a lot of answers early next week.—Ad.

STILLMAN RENEWS
EFFORTS AT PEACE

Willing to Reduce Wife's Exile to a Couple of Years in Fresh Offers.

YIELDS TO PRESSURE

Financial Interests Involved With His Own Seek to Stop Fight.

SETTLEMENT IS NEARER

Movie Project and Writing of 'Life' May Be Given Up
by Other Side.

James A. Stillman made a vain endeavor to reopen armistice negotiations with his wife yesterday. Through his lawyers he informed John B. Stanchfield, Mrs. Stillman's chief of counsel, that he was ready to modify his stand upon the one point that has frustrated former efforts to relieve the courts of the famous divorce action. He declared that he would not insist that his wife leave America for five years after he withdrew his complaint, retracted his charges and acknowledged the parentage of Guy Stillman.

His lawyers told Mr. Stanchfield that Mr. Stillman would be just as well satisfied if she would leave America for two years or even one year. It is not known just what Mrs. Stillman's reply was, but from a trustworthy source it was learned that she said in effect:

"I have nothing to arbitrate. I propose going ahead if my husband insists. But I'm not going out of the country unless I feel so inclined. And I do not feel so disposed just now. At any rate I shall not go as a condition of my husband's dropping his suit. He might as well understand that clearly. That's final."

At the same time Mr. Stanchfield and John A. Garver, the lawyer who was injected into the case by the financial interests with which Mrs. Stillman is identified, the best bet seem to be to induce Mr. Stillman to abandon his suit, were in conference and had been at times for forty-eight hours. They were negotiating terms of peace but laboring under the handicap that Mrs. Stillman declined to be a party to anything suggestive of negotiations.

One of her representatives set forth her attitude.

"She is willing to settle this suit out of court. She will agree to abandon her plans for going into the movies. She will agree to forsake writing her life story, for which publishers are negotiating. But it is necessary that her husband settle a reasonable income upon her. He must be generous. She insists that her children and herself be well provided for."

Mrs. Stillman demands $90,000 a year. If the settlement is made outside of court it is pretty certain that the figure will be near $100,000 a year. The members of the board of directors of the Motion Picture Industry, at a meeting of the association at Belmont's, and it was announced by that no offer had been made to her by any of the members. The association is said to represent 95 per cent. of the motion picture producers of this country.

After making his announcement to reporters, Mrs. Stillman said she was a manager of the film producing company which has been named as the one which made the reported offer. He denied that his company had approached Mrs. Stillman with an offer.

E. A. DUBEY KILLED
BY ARTIST FRIEND

Bergendahl Held Without Bail After Fatal Quarrel.

Edward A. Dubey, 32 years old, widely known for years as a poster artist, was attacked and killed yesterday afternoon by John R. Bergendahl, 35, in the latter's sign painting shop at 30 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn. The two had been close friends for a long time, and the attack, according to the police, was either the result of a sudden and mysterious quarrel or of a nervous ailment from which Bergendahl is said to have been suffering lately.

Detectives Cunningham and Brosnan of the Adams street station heard the screams of Mrs. Bergendahl and ran inside. They said they saw Dubey lying on the floor and Bergendahl, who was standing over him, turned to the detectives and said:

"I did it. I did it with my feet. That's the devil there. That's where he belongs. He's made trouble for me."

The aged painter was taken to the Long Island College Hospital, where he died a short time later of a compound fracture of the nose and a fractured skull. Bergendahl was held without bail until May 27 by Magistrate Dodd.

Mrs. Bergendahl said that Mr. Dubey had taught her husband the poster painting business and that, until yesterday, the two had never so much as spoken unfriendly words to each other.

LAD, 17, WINS PRIZES
WORTH $1,250 CASH

High School Graduate Gets Gold Cup Also.

David Koch, 17, of 448 East 167th street, who was graduated from the High School of Commerce in January and is now in business, took time off from the office yesterday and attended exercises in the auditorium of the High School of Commerce to receive prizes.

He got $1,250 worth of a competition last fall among schools of the United States and Canada for the best essay on "The Teachings of Adam Smith in the 'Wealth of Nations' and Present Day Economic Conditions" offered by the Alvan H. Simonds Company of Pittsburg, Mass. A second prize of $250 and a gold cup were for a successful essay in a competition held by the Land Curiosity Shop in 554 Madison avenue. Sales was employed by the shop as a salesman.

Detectives Hughes, Hooker and Hauser arrested Boris Oskendoff, who conducts a curio store at Sixth avenue and Forty-fourth street, on a charge of having paid $1,000 for the tapestries.

17TH CENTURY RELICS GONE; SALESMAN HELD

Benjamin Pross of 66 West Ninth street was held in $2,500 bail for trial by Magistrate Charles N. Harris in Yorkville court yesterday, charged with the theft of four seventeenth century tapestries valued at $10,000, from the Land Curiosity Shop in 554 Madison avenue. Pross was employed by the shop as a salesman.

Detectives Hughes, Hooker and Hauser arrested Boris Oskendoff, who conducts a curio store at Sixth avenue and Forty-fourth street, on a charge of having paid $1,000 for the tapestries.

ARRIVES WITH PAPAL
PASSPORT IN LATIN

Mr. Giuseppe L. Grivetti, secretary to the Apostolic delegate to Canada, arrived yesterday by the Lloyd Sabauda liner Pesaro, with the first passport issued by the Vatican that has been seen here by the customs officials.

Mr. Grivetti was unaware that Papal passports were unknown here. His own, a large finely executed document in Latin, issued by Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, is vided by the British Consul-General in Rome, and shows that the bearer is on his way to Canada.

YOUR Situation Wanted Ad. In the Want Ad. Section of The Herald should put you in touch with just the sort of people with whom you would like to connect. Try one.—Ad.

Advertisement.

Ballantyne Scotch

Ballantyne is a Scotch maker of woollens. He made these flannels in handloom design in both modern and striking effects. They are shown in our Made to Order department. Coat and trousers of Ballantyne flannels $25. Suit $71. G. N. VINCENT, 524-526 6th Ave., near 21st St.

Broadway at Ninth Street
New York
Business Hours—
9 to 5
Telephone
Stuyvesant 4700

The John Wanamaker Store
Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.

IT is not big type and big talk in the newspapers—but the quality, fashion and fair price of the goods in the store which make value and give lasting satisfaction.

TO-DAY—The Annual Sale of SKIRTS

For Miss 14 to 20

If you have ever purchased skirts in our Salon of Fashions for Miss 14 to 20, you will know just exactly what kind of skirts are in this Sale. They are made of the same fine qualities of materials which we feature in our regular skirts.

The tailor who makes practically all of our skirts made these skirts —and that means that every inside belt has been shrunken, that it is bound at the openings, and that it is finished with tape hangars.

Every skirt is generously proportioned—those that are pleated have deep pleats.

POCKETS in nearly every model are simple in design—and will be appreciated by young women of fastidious taste.

The prices will speak for themselves when you see the skirts! We might use many adjectives in explaining how low they are, but that is needless.

White Skirts

All of the cotton gabardine and cordeline skirts at $3.95 are WHITE.

Flannel skirts at $7.95 and $10.75 are of fine worsted flannel which does not attract dust as readily as other qualities. WHITE, of course.

Skirts of Baronette satin at $7.95 are in

Beige	White	Rose
Maize	Gray	Mauve
Brown	Black	Navy blue
Robin's Egg Blue

Skirts of famous trademark sports silk at $16.50, are in smart stripes and plaids in beige-and-blue, black-and-white, navy blue-and-white, navy blue-and-beige—also crepe weaves combined with satin stripes—in all beige, all blue, all black.

Waistbands—24 to 34 in. Lengths—28 to 35 in.

None sent C. O. D.

None returnable.

Second Floor, Old Building, Tenth Street

John Wanamaker
May 27, 1921.

The London Shop FOR MEN

Golfers who prefer light-weight knicker stockings, will like the Leigh and Flaxton, from Scotland. They are of Scotch wool, light-weight, in cool colors with refreshing tops.

Burlington Arcade Floor, New Building

Have your eyes examined before you go off holidaying. Our optometrists will do the work thoroughly, prescribe the proper glasses to correct any defect of vision—and see that they are properly fitted.

First Floor, Old Building.

Eight surprises in this Box of Candy

For the Holidays

- a pound of chocolate-covered marshmallows;
- a pound of assorted chocolates;
- a pound of chocolate covered caramels;
- half a pound of gumdrops;
- two packages of mints;
- two snapping bon-bons, each with a gay favor inside it, $2.50 for the box.

And when you're buying for Decoration Day, don't forget a pound or two of CAMEO candy. It's not so fancy in its dressings, but it's ever so good. $1.75 a pound.

Eighth Gallery, New Building Main Floor, Old Building

THE SHOPS FOR MEN
On the street floor at Ninth Street. Entrance from Broadway or Fourth Avenue.

How wonderful life seems —when you're comfortably seated in the car, gliding away from the "dry drudgery of the desk's dull wood" (as Charles Lamb put it) bound for more open spaces, to breathe fragrant air,—to know that everything you need to help you enjoy your outing, is packed away safely in the bag that lies snugly at your feet.

How about a blue suit?

We have them in serge or unfinished worsted, single or double breasted coat, perfectly tailored; $50.

A Utility Suit?

One that may be worn on any occasion that is not purely formal—traveling, at business, in the club, and so on. $35 to $65.

White flannel trousers?

All New York knows ours, of English flannel. Nothing so good at or near the prices—$10 and $12.50.

Tennis supplies

Whatever you lack—you'll be morally certain to find it here. Good. And at a fair price.

AIR-PEDS
Referred to in one of the columns to the right.

Sandy Herd says---

"A firm stance is just as important as a firm grip."

AIR-PEDS give one a firm stance. They will not permit your feet to slip. And they will give you a better grip on hill-sides, dry burnt courses, or pebbles, than shoes with caulks or hob-nails.

More---

You may wear them into the club-house. They will keep your feet dry in wet weather. They will not hurt the greens. They will double the life of your shoes.

Many members of the American golf team now in England wear AIR-PEDS on their golf shoes. $1.50 pr., tan or black.

Burlington Arcade Floor, New Building